FACTS

What does First Choice Bank do with your personal information?

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number and income
- Account balances and payment history
- Transaction history and credit history

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share customers’ personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers’ personal information; the reasons First Choice Bank chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice?
First Choice Bank

What we do

| How does First Choice Bank protect my personal information? | To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. |
| How does First Choice Bank collect my personal information? | We collect your personal information, for example, when you
- Open an account or apply for a loan
- Use your debit card or pay your bills
- Make deposits or withdrawals from your account
We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus. |
| Why can’t you limit all sharing? | Federal law gives you the right to limit only
- Sharing for affiliates’ everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you
- Sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you
State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state laws. |

Other important information

The California Financial Information Privacy Act Division 1.4 of the Financial Code (“Division 1.4”) became effective on July 1, 2004. Division 1.4 broadly regulates the sharing of nonpublic personal information of consumers. Based on Statutory Exemptions, the Bank may share nonpublic personal information to maintain customer’s account and effect a transaction requested by the consumer.
